

PUBLIC LEDGER

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1897.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1892.

MAYSVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1905.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

SOUVENIR OF WILLIE.

Willie was a gentle lad.
General regrets
Were felt when one day Willie took
To smoking cigarettes.
Willie kept on puffing
Harder every day.
Sister took the coupons and
She put them all away.
Willie dear has left us;
'Twas a mournful shock.
Sister cashed the coupons in
And got a mantel clock.
Now we gather 'round it
As the moments fly;
It is something lovely to Remember Willie by.
—Washington Star.

THE Louisville Times headlines a bit of Russian news. "Romanoff Dynasty Tottering." Too much vodka, maybe.

KENTUCKY's reputation for open-handed hospitality is world-wide; but it remained for a Darville man to enforce it at the muzzle of a gun. A few days ago a gentleman from that city happened in the fashionable "Mecca" in Cincinnati, and his invitation to "have something" was for awhile promptly accepted by all who were there, and by all who came in; until finally there were few responses, for there are times when even a Cincinnati knows when he's got enough. At this juncture the Colonel whipped out a gun big enough to put Russia's Black Sea Fleet out of business, and now his invitations, emphasized by the Kentuckian's tickle of the trigger, and a gaze into the cavernous business end of the howitzer by the invited, were once more accepted with an alacrity that would have done credit to the "bums" at the Silver Moon. For awhile trade fairly boomed; but as the genial Colonel refused to allow any of his guests to depart, and as it was long after Lodge hours and many hill-toppers would find it difficult to make peace with their better halves, one of the barkeeps managed to telephone for the police. And the next morning it cost the Colonel an extra $50; but, lawsey! what a bunch of fun he had the night before!

SOME months ago the Washington authorities sent a Special Agent to Europe to investigate and report upon the immigration question, which is now the most serious problem that confronts the American people. The Government Agent reports that the Austro-Hungarian Government is fostering and encouraging the immigration to the United States of its people, and at the same time urging the emigrants not to become citizens of this country, but to get together all the money they can earn here and then return to their own country. In the fostering of this immigration it is charged that the Austro-Hungarian Government subsidizes one or more steamship lines with the result that they carry the emigrants to the United States at a notably low rate. By this means the Austro-Hungarian Government rids itself, temporarily, at least, of some residents who are not especially desirable, and many of this class succeed in landing in this country despite the rigidity of the immigration laws.

There are societies in this country whose members work in conjunction with the Austro-Hungarian Government, bringing all sorts of influence to bear to secure the landing of certain immigrants who come here. The situation presented is regarded by the immigration authorities as serious, although in the absence of legislation bearing directly upon it nothing can be done except to enforce strictly the law as it now stands.

In the light of these facts, isn't it quite time for Congress to assert itself by passing laws that will at once and forever prohibit the entry of such cattle into this country?

CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—DR. G. G. GREEN.

The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Boecher's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't quit, the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

But no matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.

Mrs. Louisa Lee of Marshalltown, Iowa, who is visiting relatives in the county, moved from Ohio to the West with her father many years ago. She came East to attend the General Assembly at Winona, Ind., and spent some time at Washington City and other Eastern points. She is a very cultured lady and her address to the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Washington Presbyterian Church Wednesday is very highly spoken of. She is very ardent in the cause of missions and made voluminous notes of all that related thereto at the General Assembly. MR. C. L. SALLEE

Resigns His Important Position on Board of Underwriters

At a meeting of the Board of Underwriters yesterday, Mr. C. L. Sallee tendered his resignation as Local Board Inspector and Stamping Secretary, a position he has ably filled for the past 21 years.

Mr. Sallee is the best posted man in this city on insurance risks and rates and was the very person for the place, but owing to his increasing office business, and in order that he might devote his whole time to general law practice, he resigned the position.

The Local Board regretted the loss of Mr. Sallee. His past services were valued highly and as an earnest of their good opinion a vote of thanks was extended him.

The office is an important one. Each daily report and each account current of each company must pass through the Stamping Secretary's office and bear his stamp before the Company will accept it.

Mr. James S. Wood is Mr. Sallee's successor.

A fine Scotch terrier belonging to Myall & Dickson was cut in two by a passing local freight at the corner of Front and Market this morning.

Mr. Jasper H. Lawwill died Monday at his home at Washington Courthouse, O., aged 55. He was a former resident of this city, where he was engaged in the grocery business for several years.

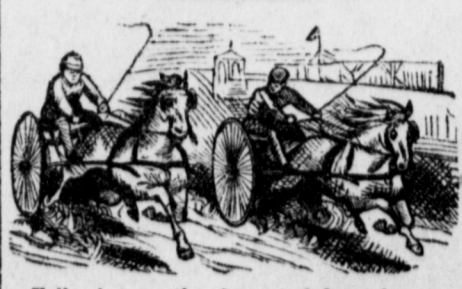

Mr. L. T. Gaebke, the Fifth Ward coal man, was handling an adz the other day and instead of striking the timber whacked his foot and gave himself a severe wound. He has been disabled for some time.

Yesterday Mr. Thomas Kelley was bringing a traction engine to this city for the purpose of taking a threshing machine back with him. Near Mt. Zion, in attempting to cross a bridge that spans a branch of the Northfork, the structure let down and precipitated the heavy and cumbersome engine to the bed of the stream, making a perfect wreck of it. It was by rare presence of mind and good fortune that Mr. Kelley escaped being killed. As it was he received only a few scratches and bruises.

Fully 500 people witnessed the double-header ball game at the East End Park Tuesday. The morning game between the Volunteers and Washington resulted in a score of 16 to 17 in favor of Washington. The afternoon game between the Volunteers and Augusta M. D.'s, who a month ago defeated the Maysville Regulars 25 to 5, resulted in a complete shut out for the latter club, the score being 6 to 0 in favor of the Volunteers. "Hot Foot" Rideout pitched the game of his life for the Volunteers.

ANNOUNCEMENT

JULY 1st, 1905, we will open and thereafter conduct, in the same conservative way that we have our other banking business for the past fifteen years, a

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

And pay 2% interest per annum upon all money deposited in that department, subject to the rules and regulations, which will be furnished on application.

The other branches of our business will be conducted as heretofore, and this Department is added in order that we may be able to meet every requirement of the banking business, which it is our earnest desire to do.

If you wish to keep a commercial bank account, a savings account, make an investment, have a note collected or discounted, want a draft or any other accommodation that a Bank can render, you come in and see us and be assured that it will afford us pleasure to accommodate you.

We are now fully equipped for every branch of safe and conservative banking, and would like to have you do some business with us.

If there is anything about our new Department that you don't understand, come in and we will cheerfully explain it to you.

Respectfully,

MITCHELL, FINCH & CO.'S BANK.

Received 109 applications for money orders.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Degman entertained with a delightful musicale Friday evening in honor of their guest, Mr. Clifford Martin. Mr. Martin is a fine musician, his naturally fine voice being improved by a six months stay in New York and a year in Europe under the best masters.

Mrs. Robert Girvin is a little proud, and she certainly has a right to be, of her record as dairy maid. During the month of June, after supplying her own table, she sold sixty-five pounds of fine butter as ever was produced in the country. Mrs. Girvin milks but two cows, but they are surely ladies.

Mr. Clifford Martin left for his home in Cincinnati Saturday after a delightful two weeks visit at Maplewood and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Martin in Fleming county. Mr. Martin goes to St. Louis next week for another two weeks visit to friends, after which he goes to Los Angeles, Cal. to spend the balance of his vacation, returning in September to resume his duties as teacher of music and instrumental tuning at the Institution for the Blind at Louisville.

It is not often that an item from a country correspondent is worth repeating, or even remembering very long; but two facts connected with the Oriole Story sent in by this correspondent recently certainly are a pleasant sequel. Fact first—The boy that shot the bird was conscience stricken when he read the item. His only thought at the time was to show his marksmanship and test his gun. The lovely little songster, silhouetted against the sky, was a tempting target. To use his own words, "I never was so sorry for anything in my life as I thought of those helpless birds dying from thirst and starvation because of my thoughtless act. Please believe me, it was thoughtless; but I promise you one thing sure I'll never shoot a bird again as long as I live." Of course I apologized to the repentant boy for having indirectly called him a heathen. Fact second—A gentleman from a distant part of the county says, "Do you know that your 'Oriole Story' has saved the lives of lots of birds out our way." I did not "know," but I surely was glad.

The pleasure of a day's shopping in Maysville is denied many country women because the otherwise perfectly gentle driving horse is afraid of streetcars. One lady living a few miles out has hitherto been the proud possessor of a horse that seemed absolutely free from fear of anything, from a fluttering paper in the road to a railroad train. He seemingly had but two objects in life—one to munch hay and the other to get there when started. This lady could drive right down Second street and make her own purchases without any bother to male members of the family. One day last week, needing a pair of shoes, she drove up in front of Mr. W. H. Means's store and left a friend seated in the buggy while she made a satisfactory purchase. Re-entering the rig, she started down street, paying no attention whatever to a car coming up, when suddenly crack, crack, crack went torpedoes, crackers or something of the kind from the car track. The horse lifted its head, looked at the car, the fusillade increasing as it came nearer. Then the fright that had been pent up for years suddenly broke forth. He ran backwards, jumped and kicked up a big excitement all around him, especially to the two occupants of the buggy. Some gentlemen on the sidewalk tried to catch the bridle, but not until the Motorman stopped the car, thereby stopping the fusillade, did the frightened animal become quiet. As the lady drove out of town, the horse showed fright at every car passed, but no more fusillades being met the open country was reached in safety, while the lady wondered if now her lovely drives and quiet days of shopping in town were to be as few and far between as those of many of her neighbors.
